Photos courtesy of James Chuang Back to the Top Guides A guide is a fraction of what you spend on your entire trip. With a decent guide, you'll see so much more and know a lot more about what you're looking at. For the serious independent traveller I recommend either the Lonely Planet or the Rough Guide. I personally prefer the layout of the Lonely Planets, but others prefer the Rough Guides. Both books offer an equally excellent level of practical details and useful background. You won't regret buying one! Buy from Amazon.co.uk (UK) or Amazon.com (US)... You also download only the chapters you need in PDF format of the Lonely Planet Website, from around £2.99 or US$4.95 per chapter. Australia by rail from Trailblazer Guides ... Colin Taylor's Australia by Rail is worth buying if you're planning to tour Australia by train. Not only will it help you understand the routes, trains, and onboard accommodation, it has city information and the best of all a mile-by-mile lineside guide of what to see from the train on the way. Buy online at Amazon.co.uk Back to top Accommodation in Australia www.booking.com is my favourite hotel booking site and I generally prefer to book my hotels all in one place here. You usually book with free cancellation - this allows you to confirm your accommodation without risk before the train booking opens. It also means you can keep accommodation while you complete your itinerary, and change your plans as they evolve - a feature I use all the time when putting together a trip. I never book hotels non-refundably. I also have to rely on their review scores - you won't be disappointed with anything over 8.0. Tip: It can pay to compare prices across multiple hotel sites: HotelsCombined.com is a price comparison site that compares hotel prices on Booking.com, Hotels.com, Accor, Agoda and many others. Although if there's not much in it, I'd rather keep all my bookings together in one place on www.booking.com. TripAdvisor hotel reviews... www.tripadvisor.com is a good place to be independent reviews of the main hotels. It also has the low-down on all the sights & attractions as well. Backpacker hostels in Australia: www.hostelworld.com... www.hostelworld.com: If you're on a tight budget, don't forget about backpacker hostels. Hostelworld offers online booking of cheap private rooms or dormitories in backpacker hostels in many places in Australia, at rock bottom prices. Back to top Flights to Australia Overland travelling around Australia by train is part of the experience, so don't cheat and fly, stay on the ground! But a long-haul flight may be inevitable to reach Australia in the first place. Two airlines stand out: Singapore Airlines, www.singaporeair.com, consistently voted one of the world's best (and I wouldn't disagree, as far as airlines go). Virgin Atlantic Airlines, www.virginatlantic.com, which now flies directly from the UK to Australia, is still a good choice for both price & service. 2) Check flight prices at Opodo, www.opodo.com... 3) Use Skyscanner to compare flight prices & routes worldwide with 600 airlines... 4) Lounge passes... Make the airport experience a little more bearable with a VIP lounge pass, it's not as expensive as you think! See www.loungepass.com Back to top Travel to Australia without flying For information on how to travel from Europe to Australia without flying either by land via trans-Siberian railway to the Far East and then by freighter, or by sea altogether, see the Australian overland page Back to Top Holidays by Train in Australia British companies such as Great Rail Journeys offer fully inclusive 5-star guided tours around Australia , using the Indian Pacific, the Ghan & NSW TrainLink. View the holiday details online and call 01904 527 120 to book or use their online booking form. Seat61 will receive some commission to support the site if you book your holiday via this link and phone number. Alternatively, companies such as Travelbag can arrange travel independently, with flights and trains as required. Back to the top Travel Insurance & VPN Never travel abroad without travel insurance from a reliable insurer, with at least £1m or preferably £5m medical cover. It should also cover cancellation and loss of cash and possessions, up to a reasonable limit. An annual multi-trip policy is usually cheaper than some single-trip policies, even for only 2 or 3 trips per year, I have an annual policy myself. Here are some suggested insurers. Seat61 gets a small commission if you buy through these links. In the UK, reliable insurers are columbus direct. If you have a pre-existing medical condition or are over 65, see www.OnlyTravelCover.com - 10% off with seat61. You Confused.com to compare prices & policies from many different insurers. If you live in Australia, New Zealand, Ireland or the EU, try the other Columbus Direct websites. If you live in the US try Travel Guard USA. A Curve card saves on foreign transaction costs... Most banks give you a bad exchange rate, then you charge a currency conversion conversion A Curve MasterCard means no foreign transaction fee and gives you the mid-market exchange rate, at least up to a certain limit, £500 per month at the time of writing. The balance goes directly to one of your existing debit or credit cards. How it works: 1. Download the app for iPhone or Android. 2. Enter your details & they send you a Curve MasterCard - they send to most European addresses, including the UK. 3. Connect your existing credit cards to the app. Now use the Curve MasterCard to buy things online or in person or take cash from ATMs, just like a normal MasterCard. Curve does the currency conversion and sets the balance on which of your debit or credit cards you choose. You even change your mind about which card it goes on, within 14 days of the transaction. I have a Curve Blue card myself - I get some commission if you sign up for Curve, but I'm recommending it here because it's great. See details, download the app and get a Curve card - they'll also give you £5 cashback via that link. Get a VPN for secure browsing. VPNs & why you need one... When you're travelling, you often use free WiFi in public places that may not be safe. A VPN means that your connection to the Internet is encrypted & always secure, even with unsecured WiFi. In countries like China where access to Twitter & Facebook is limited, a VPN gets these restrictions. And finally, you select the geographic location of the IP address you browse with, to bypass geographical restrictions that some websites apply - for example, a booking site charges booking fees for non-European visitors, but none for European visitors, so if you're not in Europe, you avoid browsing with a UK IP address using a VPN. VPNs & why you need one. ExpressVPN is a best buy and I use it myself - I signed up as an ExpressVPN affiliate, and if you go with expressvpn.com using the links on this page, you should see a special deal, 3 months free with an annual subscription, and I get a small commission to help support this site.
